Risk indicator for the InvestNow Antipodes Global Value Fund ⁱ.

⇐ Potentially lower returns			Potentially higher returns ⇒
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
⇐ Lower risk			Higher risk ⇒

The risk indicator is rated from 1 (low) to 7 (high). The rating reflects how much the value of the fund's assets goes up and down. A higher risk generally means higher potential returns over time, but more ups and downs along the way.

To help you clarify your own attitude to risk, you can seek financial advice or work out your risk profile at <https://sorted.org.nz/>.

Note that even the lowest category does not mean a risk-free investment, and there are other risks that are not captured by this rating.

This risk indicator is not a guarantee of a fund's future performance. The risk indicator is based on the returns data for 5 years to 30 June 2025. While risk indicators are usually relatively stable, they do shift from time to time. The risk indicator will continue to be updated in future fund updates.

See the product disclosure statement (PDS) for more information about the risks associated with investing in this fund.

Notes

- i. A combination of actual fund returns and market index returns have been used to determine the risk indicator as the fund has not been operating for the required five years. The risk indicator may therefore provide a less reliable indicator of the fund's future volatility. Market index returns have been used until March 2022 and fund returns thereafter.
- ii. Total fund charges reflects the fees and expenses incurred by the underlying fund in which the InvestNow Antipodes Global Value Fund invests. This information has been sourced from the underlying fund manager in relation to the underlying fund's actual costs as a percentage of the average net asset value of the underlying fund.
- iii. Kimi David had not been named as key personnel in a previous fund update for the fund.
